

HEAVY INSURGENT FORCES AGAIN MENACING JUAREZ

Plans to Reopen Railroad Communication With Chihuahua Believed to Be Cause of Shift of Base.

EL PASO, Texas, March 15.—Interest in Mexican insurrecto activity was again yesterday centered in the district south of Juarez.

Actuated by a report that within the next three weeks the Diaz government plans to open up the railroads to the city of Chihuahua and to institute an aggressive condition not only about the town, but in the country, made a force of 1000 insurrectos begin a 150-mile march from Casas Grandes toward Juarez.

The news caused little anxiety in Juarez, although it was pointed out by insurrecto leaders here that only 500 federal troops are in the city. Colonel Cuellar, former chief of President Diaz's staff, is at Casas Grandes with 600 men and several machine guns, which formerly were used in defense of Juarez. General Rabago, with a force of 700 federal, is supposed to be near Chihuahua, cut off by Creighton's force of insurrectos.

It is further pointed out that federal troops would have to be brought to Juarez on foot, while most of Madero's men are mounted. No word was received yesterday concerning the fate of the fifteen Americans captured at Casas Grandes.

PULLED MAN'S NOSE; SHOT IN THE HEART

GLOBE, Ariz., March 15.—George Shanley, a wealthy cattleman, was shot and killed last night by Marshal Anderson while the two, with a party of friends, were at supper in a Chinese restaurant. They got into a dispute and Shanley reached over the table and pulled Anderson's nose.

"Do that again and I'll kill you," Anderson yelled.

Shanley did so and the next second a bullet penetrated his heart. "Good-bye; adios," he said as he toppled back from his chair. Anderson gave himself up. He claims the subject of the quarrel was not of a serious character.

POLICE CHIEF IS REPAIRING BAD BRIDGE

Chief of Police Smith is busily engaged today, not only fixing up the mud-holes in the streets, but also repairing the bridge which leads from the road into the cemetery. This bridge has been caving considerable of late, and it is feared that it would cave in entirely. To obviate this, a number of timbers, 8x8x18 feet, have been secured and will be placed under the structure in order to hold it in place. The work will probably be completed sometime tomorrow.

WERE CAPTURED ON AMERICAN TERRITORY

WASHINGTON, March 15.—An investigation having convinced the American government that Edwin Blatt, of Pittsburg, Pa., and Lawrence Converse, of Los Angeles, Cal., held as prisoners at Juarez, were captured on American soil, the state department yesterday asked the Mexican government to release them.

The case has been under investigation for several weeks, and it developed that the men undoubtedly were apprehended on this side of the boundary.

It remains for the Mexican authorities to prove otherwise, or else set the men at liberty.

INSPECT IMPROVED SHOWING IN THE BRUNSWICK LODGE

Malcolm McDonald and L. A. Parkhurst of Tonopah, interested in the Cosmopolitan and other claims in the Silver Star district in Six-Mile canyon, were arrivals yesterday and made an inspection of the properties. It is understood that some very favorable developments have been recently made on the Cosmopolitan claim, and that a ledge of from 6 to 8 feet in width has been opened up, and carrying a fair grade of values. It is expected that extensive work will be done in this locality the coming season. —Virginia Chronicle.

TONOPAH WATER SUPPLY WILL BE SHUT OFF

Owing to the fact that a connection is to be made by the water company with the Montana mine, the local supply will be shut off tomorrow, Thursday. It may require but an hour; however, in order to avoid inconvenience, it would be well for the water consumers to prepare for the water being disconnected from 9 to 11 a. m. A goodly supply is in the reservoirs and a man will be kept at the connections in order that the supply may be immediately installed in case of fire.

OUR GEORGE HAS RETURNED HOME AGAIN

FORMER CONGRESSMAN TAKES RESIDENCE AND BUSINESS ACTIVITY IN NEVADA.

RENO, Nev., March 15.—Ex-Congressman George A. Bartlett began his residence in Nevada Monday in the capacity of a private citizen by some strenuous work. He arrived from the east early last week. He motored quickly home and then snatched a bite of breakfast. He then took the V. & T. flyer for Virginia City, where he consulted associates concerning mining plans. He came back to Carson City and sat in the assembly while the insurgents did things to the police bill—a bill of which he acknowledges paternity. The law was not hurt.

The congressman met the members, officers and friends and then he came back home on the evening local. He now intends to settle down to the practice of law.

Mr. Bartlett declared that he favored the ship subsidy, the tariff board, reciprocity with Canada and above all else, a liberal expenditure of money on printer's ink for publicity for Nevada. All Nevada needs, he said, was a thorough presentation of her own advantages.

While in Virginia City Mr. Bartlett met L. A. Parkhurst, Malcolm McDonald, George Drysdale and G. W. Stone, who are associated with him in developing the old Cosmopolitan workings on the old Brunswick lode. Today articles of incorporation of the East Comstock company will be filed for the purpose of expending the work.

On the old Cosmopolitan important discoveries have been made, giving assurance of profitable working of that comparatively unworked district of the Comstock. It is east of the Comstock and it is believed by some, lies under the hanging-wall of the original lode. The hanging-wall, by the way, has never been reached.

Messrs. Parkhurst and Stone are San Francisco capitalists and the activity on the Comstock promises much good for that district. In old days the Cosmopolitan produced about $90,000. Mr. Drysdale's Twentieth Century claim produced a good output recently and is near the Cosmopolitan.

MONTGOMERY SHOSHONE MINE CLOSES DOWN

The Montgomery Shoshone mine at Bullfrog is now a thing of the past. At least it has closed down after buffeting the uncertain gale for upwards of a year. This one-time prolific producer is now no more through the failure of the ore production.

Several years ago the Montgomery Shoshone, one of the premier producers of Southern Nevada, was sold to Charles Schwab, the steel magnate, for a figure reported to be in the neighborhood of $4,000,000. Following this sale the price was boosted to $16 a share. The production of the mine in 1909 was $685,000.

GRABS PISTOL; AVERTS DEATH AT HANDS OF EDWARDS

POLICE INVESTIGATE AND FINALLY DAN EDWARDS IS BROUGHT TO STATION.

RENO, Nev., March 15.—Shortly after 7 o'clock Sunday night a shot was fired in the lobby of the McKissick hotel, and Rea Mackay, a writer on a weekly publication devoted to literature, society and the divorce colony, was hit in the right hand by a bullet.

The missile went through the fleshy part of the hand, entering at the palm and emerging outside the carpal bone, near the joint of the little finger.

Within two hours Mackay was arrested by Chief Burke and taken to the station where he refused to make a statement explaining the circumstances attending his injury.

Dan Edwards was brought to the police station and asked what he knew of the shooting. He denied knowledge of it.

Mackay later admitted that the shot was fired from a pistol in Edwards' hands. He further admitted that a Mrs. Mitchell was with Edwards at the time. He said that Edwards had demanded that he apologize to Mrs. Mitchell and that the scuffle and shot followed his refusal to apologize.

A charge of disturbing the peace and making loud and unusual noises around the McKissick hotel was preferred against Mackay and he was allowed to go on his own recognition.

No charge was made against Edwards, and he left the station.

Mrs. Mitchell was not seen after the shooting.

The chief of police states that he is waiting for some one to file a complaint. Mackay, according to the chief, has not asked for a complaint of any kind.

The theory of the shooting is that Edwards took offense at something that was said in the weekly newspaper or magazine referring to Mrs. Mitchell. It is said that Edwards had showed anger over certain writings and had intimated that he would make trouble for Mackay. When the two met in the McKissick it is believed that angry words were followed by the exhibition of the pistol and that in the scuffle that followed for its possession it was discharged either accidentally or by design.

Those who recall certain past history remember that one Edwards was a party in the case of Edwards against Phillips in the district court many months ago. The weekly in question referred to this case in such a manner as brought charges of contempt against the then publishers. It is believed by some that the rancor engendered at that time over the publications in the weekly became the foundation for an antipathy which was accentuated by the alleged criticism of Mrs. Mitchell.

Dan Edwards, the man who did the shooting, was a resident of Tonopah for several years, being in the mining business here.—Ed

In honor of St. Patrick, Friday night, March 17th, will be made merry by the Wolfe Tone club with a grand ball at Miners' Exchange hall. Everyone of Irish birth or parentage is expected to be present at this, the first annual event of the new club, which has been formed out of honor to Ireland and the Irish patriots who have given their lives and life's works for the Emerald Isle.

While this is the maiden event of this club it gives promise of being one of the finest affairs of its kind ever pulled off in the city of Tonopah, and the attendance is expected to fill the hall to its fullest capacity.

The suit was originally instituted to force the sewer company to make a connection with a boarding house at a figure that was not considered adequate by the company. The company refused to make the connection and the suit resulted.

ANOTHER GREAT BULLION SHIPMENT BY CONSOLIDATED

GOLDFIELD, Nev., March 15.—Another notable shipment of bullion was made last Saturday by the Goldfield Consolidated Mines company to the Selby Smelting company at San Francisco, the consignment containing 1448 pounds of bullion, valued at $356,800. The shipment would have been made several days earlier had it not been tied up in the refinery by the break in the electric power lines on Tuesday of last week while the melt was being made.

Everything is running along very smoothly again since power was restored and it is not probable that any similar delays will occur for a long time. The bullion was sent to San Francisco by Wells Fargo express, under a heavy armed guard.

LOVE OF GAME KEEPS THE MEN FROM RETIRING

CHICAGO, March 15.—Love of the game and the comfortable emoluments which go with it are the influences which keep a great majority of baseball players from retiring in the heyday of their careers. Cases of players deliberately retiring while still with plenty of good playing left in them are few and far between. The latest of these isolated cases is that of Jake Stahl. Included in this category are not players who ceased playing because they didn't get the salary to which they thought they were entitled, but men who preferred to go into some other business and were not to be persuaded to cling to the game by any salary inducements.

Stahl could go on playing indefinitely, but with him it was a case of good business opening and not being disgruntled in any way with the game or his employer. Other notable instances of this kind were those of Fielder Jones, Bill Lange and John M. Ward. Jones stopped when he was right at the top of his ability. He hadn't reached the down hill stage, and had shown himself to be a star manager as well as ball player. Fruit raising in Oregon held out allurements which he couldn't resist, and with his retirement the game suffered the loss of a player of rare skill.

Bill Lange was another shining light which the sport could ill afford to lose, although the defection of any one player, no matter how efficient, makes only one microscopic impression on the national game. As a fielder, batter and base runner, Lange towered far above the general run of players, and he probably wasn't even at his best—would have improved still further—when he dropped diamond activities for good and for all and settled down to business in California. John M. Ward may have seen his best days as a player when he forsook baseball for the law, but a man of his type and ability could have gone on for a good while longer as a manager had he cared to. Like the others, however, when he said he was through he meant it.

NEW YORK, March 15.—Mayor Gaynor gives a recipe for keeping happy in a letter to a little girl who wrote him thanking him for a small favor granted at her request. Says the mayor in characteristic vein:
